

IF YOU DON'T FUTURE-PROOF, ALAS, YOU MAY BE HISTORY.

In these days of unpredictable energy costs, home buyers want to be sure their investment is secure. They are also keenly aware that all homes will soon require an Energy Rating Certificate. From 2007, we believe energy efficiency will become the single most important selling feature in any new development.

Alas, builders who are unable to provide energy efficient homes will begin to lose out.

Protect your future profits by talking to Kingspan Century, Ireland's leading supplier of energy efficient timber frame homes. Only Kingspan Century can guarantee energy efficiencies in both the construction and finished phases; so that everyone, from developer to builder to buyer, can be sure their investment and their profits are secure, and the environment is protected.

"Future-Proofed By Century" will become a vital marketing tool.

Make sure you're part of an exciting future, and not consigned to the "I knew him well" part of history.
